

Colorado Mountain School

We are hiring AIARE Instructors and Course Leaders for the 2022/23 Season!

Colorado Mountain School is looking for skilled AIARE instructors and course leaders to join our program for this upcoming season and beyond. We are the largest AIARE provider in the country, and the areas we guide and instruct are top notch. If you are a new AIARE instructor we have a place for you here! We offer a robust mentorship program, new for 2023, to help you progress as an avalanche educator with a supportive and welcoming team.

Our ideal candidate has at least three years of experience leading groups in the winter environment, completed an AIARE ITC or CLT - or plan on completing one soon, and AMGA ski guide training.

This is an opportunity to join our experienced team and potentially teach up to 10 programs this winter. We will have a required one day pre-season training for new instructors in October. Compensation is very competitive and commensurate on experience, and AMGA training.

Other Perks:

- Work in a variety of Front Range backcountry zones from I-70, to Cameron Pass.
- Paid travel and Lodging.
- Gear Deals and free sponsored gear dependent on course number commitment.
- Opportunity to instruct a wide range of AIARE courses in a single season.

If interested please send a cover letter, professional resume, personal resume, copies of medical training and course completions to:

CMS Avalanche Program Director: Jason Maurer

jason@coloradomountainschool.com